SAMOA.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—As a result of the recent trouble in Samoa it is possible that the British treaty will be modified. Germany is expected to take the initiative, as she is popularly supposed to want the group divided among three parties to the treaty. Germany will probably ask for the island of Upolu, but will most likely be opposed, as that is the most valuable of the three. Recent letters received from Samoa indicate that German Consul Rose long plotted to advance German interests and foment trouble that would strengthen the hand of his country.
